Public Capping Ceremony Marks Close of Red Cross Training Period.

Marion's second war time Red Cross Nurses' Aide class was graduated and the members received their caps and pins in exercises held yesterday afternoon at the Central Christian church. Twenty-one members of the class, which included Mrs. John A. Dodd, chairman of the committee of Volunteer Nurses Aide, were present for the exercises, while four of the original group who are out of the city because of college or other circumstances were unable to be present for the ceremony.

Mrs. H. F. Ogden, R. N. was the instructor for the course and the class, made up of business women, was sponsored by the Altrusa club, women's service club.

The exercises yesterday culminated 35 hours of theory and examinations and 45 hours of practical work at the Marion City hospital under the direction of Mrs. Ogden. The study classes were conducted at the Smith Clinic on East Church street where rooms were made available by Dr. J. W. Bull and the practical work was done at the City hospital. Class members will give 150 hours a year of service in hospitals or at the time of disaster, under the supervision of the hospital superintendent and nursing staff and will work in any capacity.

Class Presented

Mrs. Ogden presented the class. Speaker for the occasion was Jack Bale of Camp Millard, Bucyrus, Red Cross field director. Miss Ruth Kleinmaier, president of the Altrusa club, welcomed the class and following Mrs. Ogden's presentation, the acceptance address was given by Ralph E. Carhart, chairman of the Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Margaret Bradbury, superintendent of the City hospital, accepted the class on behalf of the hospital. Dr. Harold K. Mouser, director of the medical division of the Civilian Defense Council, accepted the group in behalf of the council and Mrs. John A. Dodd, as chairman of the volunteer committee gave a brief talk on the work of the class and presided for the capping ceremony.

Certificates were presented by Mrs. Ray R. King and the pins, gifts to the class members from their sponsors, the Altrusa club, were presented by Mrs. Ruth Langley. Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer administered the Volunteer Service pledge in which the women pledged themselves to unselfish service, cheerful obedience to regulations and traditions of the American Red Cross.

U. S. Plane Blasts Jap Cruiser with Direct Hit by Big Bomb

By The Associated Press

The probable sinking of a Japanese cruiser, reports of 2,000 enemy dead on Bougainville island and intensified aerial activity highlighted a busy weekend in the Southwest Pacific theater of war while construction crews moved into the newly-won Gilberts to the northeast.

A Liberator heavy bomber patrolling St. George channel between New Britain and New Ireland Friday night dropped a 1,000-pound bomb squarely on the Jap cruiser, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported.

The bomb pierced the ship's armor and exploded inside with a flash that lighted up the night sky. It was the 49th enemy warship sunk or damaged in the northern Solomons during November. While General MacArthur describes the cruiser as "light," returning fliers said it was one of the medium class, of 12,000 to 15,000 tons displacement.

2,000 Japs Killed

A spokesman for Adm. William F. Halsey, South Pacific fleet commander, reported more than 1,000 Japanese killed in a 10-day battle on Bougainville, invaded at Empress Augusta bay by U. S. Marines Nov. 1. This, he said, brought to 2,000 the number of enemy dead in fighting for that largest of the Solomon islands. Our dead and wounded combined were given as 1,000.

Allied bombers carried out their most extensive operations in weeks. Eight key Japanese positions were assaulted.

Liberators left 105 tons of bombs on enemy installations on Buka island off the northern tip of Bougainville, and Mitchell mediums followed with bombing and strafing.

Buin, at the southeastern tip of Bougainville, took a 71-ton bombing from torpedo and dive bombers.

Mitchells, covered by Lightning fighters, attacked the Wewak and Boram airfields in northeastern New Guinea, destroying at least five aircraft on the ground and damaging some 25 others. Beaufort attackers hit Rabaul on New Britain.

Five Barges Sunk

P-T boats sank five barges loaded with 200 Japanese troops and artillery in Vitiaz strait, between New Guinea and New Britain.

Ten enemy bombers with a screen of 15 fighters caused some damage to allied positions at Finschhafen, New Guinea, but were intercepted on their homeward flight and eight Jap fighters were shot down and the other seven probably destroyed.

No ground action was reported on Bougainville, where the Americans have extended their beachhead, and on New Guinea, where the Australians have taken Sattelberg and its high plateau overlooking the possible invasion channel to New Britain.

The Navy's construction gangs, the Seabees, were reported to have moved quickly onto the coral atolls of the Gilberts, secured last week by Marines and infantry.

The speed with which the Seabees were put on the job suggested the possible use of airfields in the Gilberts for early intensified bombing of the Jap-held Marshall group 350 miles to the north.

D. J. SHELTON RITES TUESDAY

Funeral Services To Take Place at Presbyterian Church at 2 P. M.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in First Presbyterian church for Dwight J. Shelton, 57, president and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. who died suddenly Saturday afternoon, a little more than 12 hours after he was stricken by an attack of coronary thrombosis Friday midnight.

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler will conduct the service and burial will be made in the Iberia cemetery. Friends may call at the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street until 10 a. m. Tuesday and from 11 until service time at the church.

To Close for Funeral

The Marion Steam Shovel Co. will be closed from 12 noon to 5:30 p. m. Tuesday to permit officials and employes to attend the funeral services.

The honorary pallbearers are H. S. Richards of Boonville, Ind., T. C. Mullins of Chicago, L. Russell Kelce and Grant Stauffer of Kansas City, Mo., J. P. Jones of Cleveland, K. R. Bixby of Galesburg, Ind., J. H. Watters of Chicago, H. L. Cox of Philadelphia, C. G. Bay, Arnold Bernhard and R. Gould Morehead of New York City, J. W. Moss of Boston and the following from Marion: Earl Kennedy, Edson L. Burch, L. C. Mosley, Roy Jacoby, Harry Fies, J. H. Marsh, A. F. Busick, Alex Gibson, C. F. LaMarche, E. L. Cleveland, J. F. Courtright, J. Malcolm Streitz, Merle Virden, W. D. Finley, C. W. Taylor, Roy F. Bailey and Fred Patton.

Pallbearers will be W. H. Porter, C. W. Wright, Ben Jacoby, H. T. Gravely, F. B. Jennings and G. E. Turner.

Mr. Shelton's death brought to a close a career that was linked with the Marion Steam Shovel Co. developments of major importance, and which took him from a beginner's job at the humble task of electrical maintenance work up through a series of promotions to the presidency of Marion's largest industrial concern.

The timing of events cleared the way for many of his rapid advancements, notably the fact that he had been made assistant chief engineer at the company just about the time electricity appeared on the scene as a source of power for shovels.

Shovels Enlarged

Mr. Shelton had graduated from Ohio University at Athens, O., in electrical engineering just a few years before, and was prepared to become one of the pioneers in this new field of using electricity for power shovels. With the added power provided by electricity, larger shovels were made possible, and one of Mr. Shelton's personal "pet" projects was to make full use of this new source of power by designing shovels of immense size to perform more economical operations in the coal stripping and copper and ore mining fields.

A pioneer in every phase of this important program, Mr. Shelton worked closely with the companies that bought and operated these big shovels, and this led to his later advancement to the position of vice president in charge of sales and engineering, where he continued to keep in close contact with the coal, copper and iron fields, and, thoroughly familiar with their problems, supervised the design of equipment that would serve them best. His associates today spoke highly of the fact that, in sensing and developing new equipment, he was ever mindful of the problems of production, and that the changes he urged were always fundamentally sound and practical. This, they pointed out, came from his early years in the shop where he had an opportunity to become familiar with

TREASURY HEAD QUESTIONED ON SALES TAX VIEW

Morgenthau Says He has No "Phobia" Against Such a Levy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau told the senate finance committee under sharp questioning today that while he has no phobia against the sales tax he believes it the "least desirable method of raising additional revenue."

Renewing treasury recommendations for a $10,500,000,000 increase in federal levies, largely through boosts in income and excise taxes, Morgenthau ran into spirited cross-examination by sales tax advocates.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) wanted to know if the witness was so opposed to a retail sales levy he would accept only the $2,140,000,000 revenue increase provided in the house bill rather than have a sales tax imposed.

"I've got no phobia against the sales tax," the secretary replied, "but it is the least desirable of all methods of raising additional revenue."

Morgenthau said it was his judgment that by the time congress got through considering a 10 per cent sales tax, it would not impose the levy on food, medicine and clothing and would decline to place a new tax on top of the excise imposts which now cover many items.

He said the result would be that probably no more than $1,000,000,000 new revenue would be raised at an administrative cost of $18,000,000.

Secretary Morgenthau renewed his virtually hopeless demand for $10,500,000,000 in new taxes today by telling the senate finance committee the $2,140,000,000 house revenue measure "falls far short even of an attempt to meet our fiscal needs in a realistic or courageous way."

In the face of an assertion by Chairman George (D-Ga) that it will be impossible to enact a bill varying greatly from the principles of the house measure, the treasury chieftain reminded the committee of "the stupendous bill which this war will leave behind" and declared:

"If we pay in taxes any less than we can afford to pay we shall be unfair to those who must face the accumulated bill after the war has been fought and won. * * * we shall not only be asking the 10,000,000 members of the armed forces to give the most important years of their lives to fight the war. We shall also be requiring them to pay in taxes after the war what we could and

NAVY SEIZES PART OF NEW YORK PLANT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—The Navy today took possession of a part of the Remington Rand, Inc., factory at Southport, Chemung county, New York, in order to "expedite production and bring up to schedule an important war item."

The White House announced the action, issuing at the same time an executive order signed by President Roosevelt on Nov. 25 directing Secretary of the Navy Knox to "take possession of and operate that part of the plant of the Remington Rand, Inc. known as the 'N' division of the Elmira plant."

The order did not state the reason for the action nor did it explain the kind of war materials produced at the plant.

The Navy, however, announced designation of Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, special assistant to the undersecretary of the Navy, as officer in charge of the seized facilities, and said in a statement:

"Production at this plant has been far behind schedule and of an unacceptable quality.

RUSSIANS NEAR RAIL JUNCTION

150 Villages and Many German Prisoners Engulfed by Soviet Troops.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 29 — The Red army was advancing rapidly toward the important rail junction of Zhlobin today in a drive along the escape gap northwest of Gomel through which broken German forces were attempting to flee to the west bank of the Dnieper.

Sweeping up 150 villages and seizing many prisoners, Russian troops yesterday pushed to within 20 miles of Zhlobin, a Soviet communique said. Other Russian forces surged forward west and southwest in White Russia and killed 2,800 Nazis in fighting from the Gomel area to below Dnepropetrovsk.

(The London radio in a broadcast recorded by CBS, said one Soviet spearhead was only 15 miles from Zhlobin).

The Germans persisted in heavy tank and infantry assaults in the three Ukrainian sectors of Korosten, Chernyakhov and [illegible] but [illegible] had no major gain to show since taking Zhitomir.

Canteen Invites Help in Filling Yule Cheer Bags

Marion residents will have an opportunity to help make Christmas a bit more Christmas-like by filling the 1,600 bright red stockings to be distributed to service men and women going through Marion on Christmas day by the Women's Service canteen at the Union Station.

The bags—they are fashioned of net this year instead of the customary transparent material—were purchased by the Rotary club, 1,600 of them, and have the capacity for four pounds of Christmas cheer.

Mrs. Wilson B. Tway is chairman for the distribution of the bags and may be reached by calling 5202. Clubs and other organizations or individuals may have as many as they wish to fill by calling Mrs. Tway and they also may be obtained at the canteen.

Wartime regulations stipulate that homemade edibles must not be put in the bags. If homemade cookies, candies or other foodstuffs are placed in the Christmas bags it only means that some of the canteen women will have to take time out to open the bag and remove the articles.

By way of suggestions as to what might prove tempting the canteen women through of unshelled nuts, candy bars, stick candy, cigarets, chewing gum, cigars, gift packages of razor blades, address books, soap, cards, and, they remember that last year some of the bags held white handkerchiefs, and there were most popular with the service men and women.

Persons filling the bags are asked to close the top securely and to return them by Dec. 20. The canteen for service men is a participating agency of the Marion Community Foundation, Inc.

BRITISH OPEN NEW OFFENSIVE, GAIN GROUND

Montgomery's Men Advance in Face of German Tanks Using Flame Throwers.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Nov. 29.—The Eighth army, called upon by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery to hit the Germans a "colossal crack" and to drive them north of Rome, struck out in a new offensive Sunday morning from its Sangro bridgeheads and is making good progress in the face of enemy flame throwers, allied headquarters announced today.

The attack, delivered at night in typical Montgomery style, was preceded and backed by a terrific air onslaught. It was carried out by veteran British, Indian and New Zealand divisions rushing forward in the flashing light of an "exceptionally heavy" artillery barrage.

A second bridgehead at Archi, 13 miles inland from the Adriatic, was hammered out as the attack progressed, broadening the Eighth army's foothold on the north side of the most serious obstacle encountered by Montgomery since he set foot on the Calabrian toe last September. The previous bridgehead had been limited to about five miles along the Sangro from the Adriatic.

Americans on the right of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's front seized more high ground and broke up determined German counter-thrusts west of Venafro.

Penetrate Winter Line

The long-awaited Eighth army plunge penetrated the main lines anchoring the German "winter line" in the hills near the coast in its first 24-hour rush.

Although the Germans had been hard hit by allied air forces which had thrown as many as 500 sorties in a single day against gun posts, artillery positions, trenches and entanglements, the attack found the enemy waiting and prepared for fierce resistance.

The Germans threw in numerous counterattacks, spearheaded by tanks mounting flamethrowers.

Some of these counterattacks threw back the troops which swarmed across the Sangro in the Archi neighborhood, but the British bounded back to the offensive and regained all they had lost and more too.

They took a considerable number of prisoners in the sweep forward, among them a considerable proportion of Poles and Lorrainers (from former French territory) who had been impressed into the service of the German army.

The main penetration into the German defensive belt was in the direction of Castel Frentano five miles beyond the river and nine miles inland where the Germans appear to have anchored their line.

By crossing the river in two places, Montgomery erected another famous hammer and anvil setup which he has used successfully several times before.

Veterans of Tunisia

The inland bridgehead near Archi was first achieved several days ago by the famous 78th British division, veterans of "long Stop hill" in Tunisia, who carved out a breach in the German lines and held to their mud and water-filled foxholes for four days in sodden clothes.

Then simultaneous with the coastal attack, fresh troops swarmed across the river, broadening and deepening the foothold in high ground.

By dark last night, the troops were said to have moved well along toward their first objectives, and at last reports the two bridgeheads were about eight miles apart.

The artillery action on the Fifth army front appeared partly due to German nervousness, especially in the position beyond Venafro, the last mountain landlock to the plain reaching toward Rome. The high ground occupied by the Americans was slightly east of there.

British destroyers bombarded Civitanuova, south of Ancona along the Adriatic, and American heavy bombers hit the railway viaduct and tunnel at Dogna north of Trieste, where Adolf Hitler's Italian and Balkan forces

Reasons for Republican Trend in 3 States Revealed by Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 29— Political experts throughout the country, noting the very sizable Republican vote in the New York, New Jersey, and Kentucky elections this month, have still left unexplained the reasons why the Republican party has chalked up such wide gains.

[illegible] undoubtedly many [illegible] in the minds of many of the voters, but the nature of the [illegible] in their state and local elections [illegible] a general [illegible]

Assuming that this reaction played an important part in elections [illegible] the people [illegible] Roosevelt in 1940 [illegible] to Republican [illegible] in the recent elections [illegible] went to the [illegible]

[illegible] to shed light on [illegible] the Institute asked a representative sample of voters who shifted [illegible] the Republican [illegible] in the recent elections in New York, New Jersey, and Kentucky:

"What do you like least about the way the Roosevelt administration is handling things?"

The answers recorded below will be of prime interest to President Roosevelt and to political leaders in both parties. In order of the frequency of their mention the principal criticisms can be summarized as follows:

1. Incompetent and dictatorial management of home affairs: Voters express their dislike for government methods in many ways. Many speak of "too much red tape . . . too much government interference . . . poor organization . . . failure on the part of President Roosevelt to delegate authority and power . . . too much bureaucracy."

2. Coddling of labor: Voters who have switched parties express their dislike of the administration's handling of labor problems in this manner: "Roosevelt lets [illegible] get away with murder [illegible] how to handle [illegible]

3. Government extravagance. [illegible] government [illegible] frequency of [illegible]

4. Failure to keep prices down: [illegible] largely [illegible] the fact [illegible] prices [illegible] wages have [illegible] with prices [illegible] government has not checked [illegible]

5. Bad job of rationing: Failure [illegible] OPA [illegible] Many people blame OPA for shortages of food and [illegible] and the government [illegible] to force [illegible] shortages and to take steps accordingly.

Other Complaints

Many other complaints not classifiable into the above groups were also made. Often mentioned is the failure of the government's farm policy, unfair [illegible] of the draft and that Washington "plays politics" too much.

It will be noted that virtually all criticisms concern problems which affect the people directly. There is a significant absence of many criticisms regarding war production, America's foreign policy, or the conduct of the war itself. It will also be noted that the administration is blamed for many ills which would beset any administration in wartime, be it Democratic or Republican.

The present survey gives further evidence of the fact reported in earlier Institute polls that the management of home front affairs will be a dominant influence in the presidential election next year.

Unless the present government can convince voters that it can manage these affairs better than the Republicans the factors present in the elections held this fall may continue to turn voters away from the Democratic party.

PREDICT BIG WAR MOVE DUE

See Stage Being Set for Development in Diplomatic Field.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 29 — Simultaneously stepped up offensives on three sides of Adolf Hitler's fortress Europe suggested possibly today that the stage is being set for a momentous war development — probably in the diplomatic field—believed both in London and abroad to be imminent.

Intensified allied aerial assaults on Germany from British bases, an accelerated Soviet drive into White Russia and a spurt in the Italian campaign coincided with continued reports from abroad hinting at a meeting between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Stalin and perhaps representatives of at least three other nations.

In connection with these reports, the Daily Telegraph declared in a dispatch from Switzerland there is a general feeling there that the "Big Three" may be planning some kind of dramatic announcement—such as a last warning to Germany before launching a grand invasion of western Europe.

But an even more history-making event of worldwide scope—involving war and peace — was viewed here as possible in the light of rumors China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek might meet with the three allied leaders.

There also was speculation that Eduard Benes, president of the Czechoslovak government-in-exile, might figure in any such meeting in a possible attempt to woo Hitler's European satellites. The Daily Mail's New York correspondent said there even were rumors a sixth person representing Germany in some capacity not yet clear might sit in.

London was ready to discount any suggestion Germany might possibly be making a peace bid either to Russia, or the United States and Britain. The Daily Sketch cited Nazi propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' threats of reprisals yesterday for the bombing of Berlin and added: "If Goebbels is still the mouth piece of Germany these stories (of a peace bid) are not true."

There were other developments which provided food for thought.

One was the statement of a deputy in the Hungarian parliament that Hungary should try to make peace and that she no longer is bound by the axis three-power pact since Italy's surrender has voided that instrument.

Another was a Bern dispatch in the Stockholm press saying that a high German personage, believed to be Franz Von Papen, Nazi ambassador to Turkey, had visited the Vatican Nov. 26.

Green Stamps D, E and F in War Ration Book Four become valid for the purchase of processed foods Wednesday through Jan. 20.

This is the second set of green stamps in Book Four to be used. Green Stamps A, B and C, which became valid Nov. 1, will continue to be used through Dec. 20.

Farmers are reminded by OPA that they should continue to collect ration points for all rationed meats, including pork which they sell notwithstanding the fact that the War Food Administration has temporarily lifted its restrictions on the amount of pork which a farmer may deliver to persons living off his farm.

The points which a farmer should charge for meats are listed on the current table of consumer point values which should be changed to show the recent two-point reduction on pork items. The only exception to the two-point reduction is carcass or side cuts which were lowered 1½ points.

Caledonia Class of '88 Holds Annual Reunion

Members of the class of 1888 of the Caledonia High school met for their annual reunion on Thanksgiving day at the home of Dr. Edward Ellsworth Hipsher of 218 North State street. Of the original eight graduates four are still active. Present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Monroe of Galion, the latter being Carrie Bland of Marion; Mrs. Rose Hinds Conaway and daughter, Elizabeth of Cardington, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Foos of Claridon, Dr. Hipsher and his sister, Mrs. Minnie A. Doyle of 135 Blaine avenue. Mrs. Foos before her marriage was Miss Leora Place.

The dinner was served on the Royal Medallion dinner service presented to Bishop Simpson by a group of his admirers when he retired from active work as a missionary in China. The service was acquired by Dr. Hipsher at the sale of the effects of Bishop Simpson's sister, Elizabeth, following her death several years ago. The afternoon was spent viewing the many antiques and objects of art belonging to the host.

New Five-Gallon B, C Cards Coming

Effective Dec. 1st, all new "B-2" and "C-2" gasoline books will contain fewer coupons but each coupon will be worth five gallons each, it was announced today by E. W. Barnhart, chairman of the Marion county War Price and Rationing Board.

While the change does not mean more gasoline for holders of supplemental ration books, it does mean that they will receive their rations in more convenient form, Mr. Barnhart explained.

The new supplemental gasoline ration coupons of five gallons value will be issued with the designation "B-2" or "C-2" on their face. As present "B" and "C" and "B-1" and "C-1" coupons run out, they will be replaced by the new higher-unit-value coupons. Meanwhile, outstanding coupons issued before Dec. 1st will continue to be worth only two gallons.

Local rationing boards will save thousands of man hours under the new plan, Mr. Barnhart said. Under the simplified program, one book will often do the job of two books and part of a third book, thus reducing the use of paper and printing needed to turn out gasoline coupons for the nation.

FLIER ESCAPES AS PLANE HITS HOUSE

By The Associated Press

MARTINS FERRY, O., Nov. 29 —Francis Reddy, 41, a civilian aviator, escaped with injuries when his monoplane crashed through the roof of a house near Colerain Sunday, causing a fire that destroyed the dwelling and plane.

Reddy extricated himself from the craft in the attic of the Albert Rinderer home beside route 250 as gasoline from the ship's tank became ignited. He stepped to a porch roof and descended a ladder brought by a neighbor. Reddy suffered facial burns and head lacerations.

As flames spread through the upper portion of the frame house, the Rinderers and neighbors carried out most of the furniture.

Witnesses said Reddy, a tavern operator, was flying low before the accident.

KEEPING APPOINTMENTS WITH CONVOYS

In a day's combat, an infantry division fires about 300 tons of ammunition ... 100 37 mm. anti-aircraft guns, 127½ tons ... and the thousands of army vehicles "passing the ammunition" and other supplies each burn up an average of 10 gallons of gasoline ...

All of these materials—the guns, the "gas", the ammunition, the vehicles—plus 700,000 other different military items—must come by sea.

A gigantic supply task without parallel in the history of the nation, this job calls for the finest coordination of American railroads with ships.

The railroads must bring everything to ship sidings exactly as needed—and when needed. Any slip, any delay, may hold up a convoy sailing.

So keeping appointments with convoys is one of the most important jobs railroads have these days.

If pushing a "convoy train" through ahead of your passenger train caused you to be a little late for an early-morning business appointment, the Pennsylvania Railroad feels sure you will gladly overlook it. The demands of war must have not only railroad equipment—but the right-of-way!

They don't want your tears

"DON'T CRY. Don't let them see you cry!" whispers the older Red Cross Worker.

And as the litters of wounded come up the gangplank of the hospital ship, the young novice swallows, shuts her eyes for an instant, and nods.

They don't want our tears . . . these boys of ours. Not though they face a future that at first can seem harder than death.

They want our courage . . . they want our resolution. Courage and resolution to match and sustain their own.

Courage to keep us going on with this great task—no matter what it may cost these coming months in blood and sweat.

Resolution to back the boys who are taking these risks, with every breath that's in us, and every dollar that we can rake or scrape.

The boys realize, far more than we can, how fast war uses up machines, ammunition, equipment.

The guns and tanks that took Hill 609 in Tunisia had to be rebuilt or replaced before they could thunder down upon Messina and Naples.

The landing barges that brought our men to the perilous beaches of Salerno must be repaired and reoutfitted before they can drive ashore in France or the Balkans.

We cannot win the war with the bullets our bonds bought last summer. Those bullets are already buried in Jap and Nazi graves. And another horde of the desperate, cornered enemy is coming on.

Bullets and shells . . . tanks and guns . . . ships and planes. These are the things the boys are asking us for . . . the boys at the front and the boys behind them who will never again do things with two hands, or walk with two feet, or see with two eyes.

They don't ask us to give what they have given. They only ask us to skip the easy tears . . . to invest our money instead of spending it . . . to lend the mere money price of Victory.

They only ask us to buy War Bonds.

A Notable "Made in Marion" Career

DEATH came Saturday to Dwight J. Shelton, president of the Marion Steam Shovel company, at a time when he was directing one of the most important industrial services of his career—production of equipment used in vital operations of the United Nations' armed forces. This work he was accomplishing with the same energy and ability which characterized his performance of duty throughout all the preceding years of his noteworthy industrial activity.

Under his management the Marion Steam Shovel company made a valuable contribution to the flow of products needed for victory and won official recognition for meritorious achievement. Death came to prevent Mr. Shelton from seeing the job through to completion but that does not necessarily conclude his aid to the cause. The organization effected under his leadership to do the work remains to carry on and will have the benefit of his example and influence in doing so.

Mr. Shelton's career in the field of industrial engineering and management, which gained recognition of nationwide scope, is one which has been and always will be viewed with especial interest and pride by the people of Marion. For this they have good reason, as the record of his success is entirely a part of Marion's history. It was here that he began work as a shop employe of the city's major industrial establishment and here that he advanced by his own efforts and merits to the presidency of the same company.

It is needless to say that in accomplishing this advancement he contributed greatly to Marion's progress and welfare. He was one of the most valuable employes and officials of the Marion Steam Shovel company in various periods and phases of its operations during the more than three decades of his service.

All was not smooth sailing for this company during that time, any more than it was with other industrial concerns. There were flush times and there were depressions, and good and able men were needed to pull out of the low places. The Marion Steam Shovel company was fortunate in having such men, and one of the most helpful was Mr. Shelton. His help was of particular value because as he worked his way upward he not only learned all the essential details of plant operations and plant products, but was constantly intent upon effecting improvements. He was able to accomplish much toward that goal through his engineering knowledge and skill and his conscientious application of mind and effort to every task and problem.

We recall a testimonial from a former high official of the company which can fittingly be repeated at this time. It came shortly before this official left Marion to take a position with another large industrial concern. He said, "Mr. Shelton is the best steam shovel man in the country."

According to opinions we have heard from others connected with the industry, this tribute was not an exaggeration.

Practical success in his chosen industrial field would not, of course, have been sufficient to win for Mr. Shelton the high place he occupied in the esteem of his associates, business acquaintances throughout the country, and especially his home townsmen. He was a friendly and forthright man, always courteous and pleasant to meet, just and fair to the workers employed under his management. His personality was one of modesty and sincere friendliness when he took his first job in the plant of the Marion Steam Shovel company and his associates knew him familiarly as "Doc" Shelton. These personal qualities were unchanged and everybody still addressed him as "Doc" when he occupied the president's office.

So it's not difficult to understand why Marion is proud of this "made in Marion" record of achievement and service, for it was success well earned and eminently deserved by a Marion man who measured up to the true standards of success.

Honorably Discharged

DISTRIBUTION of insignia in the near future, according to a war department announcement, will make possible identification of men and women who have been separated from military service under honorable conditions. This will correct a previous government oversight in the handling of those honorably discharged from duty.

It will minimize the temptation felt by some civilians to pass arbitrary judgment on men and women who have completed their military duty but have nothing to show for it. It will not keep self-appointed judges from talking out of turn about those who have been rejected for military duty, or deferred because of their value elsewhere, but that must wait on a general improvement in national manners. Ideally, there would be no need for insignia even for persons honorably discharged, but in the state of manners as they are there would have to be a button for everybody to hobble the loose tongues of critics who have taken upon themselves the task of deciding who is fit for fighting and who, like themselves, should be safe behind the lines.

There can not be any other thought than reckless continuation, regardless of what the situation may be!—Adolf Hitler.

News Behind the News

Postwar Financial Plans Regarded Far Short of Meeting Inevitable Problems.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—The new White plan for an international bank and the Keynes and White plans for international currency stabilization are being hailed as forerunners of the better financial world we are to come into after the war.

Actually, they do not even approach the real depth and scope of the seemingly insoluble problems of trade and finance to be faced.

An international bank and currency stabilization by agreement are only mechanical facilities. They provide only a necessary financial bookkeeping house. They do not make business or run business any more than a local bank makes business of a local community.

The real problem is wholly different. Supposedly we are to lend billions to help rehabilitate the world and hoping to expand our markets abroad, and, at the same time, collect from Russia and our allies money or material under the lend-lease arrangement.

Policy of Past Mistakes

If we follow this course on the road which prevailing public thinking is taking us, we will merely repeat the foolish policies we followed after the last war.

Then we loaned money abroad in similar endeavors, and the international bankers sold bonds to the public to finance foreign ventures on the theory that such action would expand our foreign trade. The bonds later fell to practically nothing, because the foreign nations could not pay and the public took the loss.

This time, the only difference in these proposals seems to be that the treasury will be the international banker and the losses —which are unavoidable—will be taken out of the public purse directly.

The only way nations can really pay us is by shipping us goods. As long as we continue to lend them the money to buy from us, they can only continue to pile up debts in this country, whether held by the public in the form of bonds or by the treasury.

Debts That Can't Be Paid

No international bank or currency stabilization agreement can alter the fact that we propose to go on selling more goods abroad than we buy and paying for this excess out of our own pockets by taking debts. The debts can never be paid until we take the goods, and as there is no likelihood of us ever accepting such a vast excess of imports, the debts actually can never be paid.

What is proposed now thus is to perpetuate the unbalance of our trade by taking on more debts than can ever be paid. White officials, in their zeal for improving the world may not like to look the situation straight in the face like this, it is nevertheless true, in my opinion.

What to do about it? I do not know. I can merely see that it is wrong.

Certainly this country is not going to stand for a free influx of foreign goods, for instance low-priced Russian and Chinese goods, to any extent which would disturb wage and employment conditions in our industries.

Won't Import Steel

Perhaps we can store some stockpiles of strategic materials for the future, materials which we do not have in this country, and which would aid rather than injure our industry, but we are certainly not going to take automobiles and steel for instance from Russia or Britain.

Some people think an arbitrary managed foreign trade policy—managed completely by the government—may be necessary, but this smacks of all the evils of dictatorship and totalitarianism.

Others think that, regardless of our recent popular hatred of tariffs and tariff walls, it may be necessary to go back to them to keep our competitive goods.

Obviously, a policy of negotiation of exchange of goods for goods would solve most of the difficulties, but that would heap more dirt on the gold we have buried in Kentucky, making it less and less important.

"HOME TO ROOST!"

Author of the Week

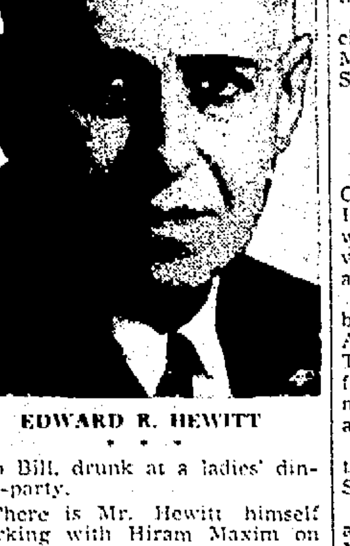

By John Selby

Associated Press Book Reviewer.

EDWARD R. HEWITT'S "Those Were the Days" is certainly the year's best book of reminiscences for this reader. Mr. Hewitt is 77 years old, and as he remarks at one point, his own life and that of his grandfather, Peter Cooper, span the entire history of the United States as an independent nation. You get the idea from reading "Those Were the Days" that these two gentlemen and their relatives were the United States, and in a sense they were.

There is no book of an American, to my knowledge, so full of incident. There are at least a thousand short stories imbedded in the book—a competent practitioner could mine it for a lifetime and still have material left over. And by some miracle of fate, the stories come out of Mr. Hewitt exactly as if he were talking. They sound like a peppery old gentleman talking informally with his grandchildren, seining up from the past the thousand and one things that add up, in the end, to himself.

There is Peter Cooper risking his future on the Atlantic cable, making the best glue in America, setting a strange grocer up in business after a fire, founding the Cooper Union. And Grandmother Cooper inventing a pickpocket-catcher, an arrangement of fish-hooks in her pocket that caught the hand of the thief so she could walk him to the police station. And Father Hewitt as Mayor of New York, borrowing some suspicious checks made out to the governor in order to force that worthy to sign a park bill. And Mr. Hewitt's wife caring for Buffalo Bill, drunk at a ladies' dinner-party.

EDWARD R. HEWITT

There is Mr. Hewitt himself working with Hiram Maxim on a flying mahine years before the Wrights or Langley, eating a dinnear in Turkey at which the natives came down with verdigris poisoning, hancing a skeleton at Princeton so that the authorities could not reach it, being piped in to diner at Skibo Castle, going broke as a manufacturer of motor cars in England, hearing Andrew Carnegie wail to himself because he could have got another hundred million for his business.

Great War Song Writes Itself

By Robbin Coons

Associated Press Hollywood Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD—There has been a lot of talk about the absence of "great" war songs in the present conflict to date, and here's the slant of a fellow who has written a main contender, "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition."

Pvt. Frank Loesser, once a top Hollywood lyric writer and composer, [illegible] was in town from [illegible] Air base to talk [illegible] about a new bond [illegible] to replace his "Road to Victory" [illegible] new lyrics for the same [illegible]. Since he enlisted [illegible] service, due to eyesight [illegible] Loesser has become a semi-official [illegible] to the armed [illegible], turning out tunes on assignment [illegible] before, from [illegible] at a fat fee, but [illegible] Air Force officers at a [illegible] the profits, if any, [illegible] After Army [illegible] write on his own [illegible] the current hit "In My [illegible]" one result.

Future Will Decide

As for "great" war songs, Loesser's point of view is that no one can tell, now, what will be considered "great" in years to come. "There's no point," he says, "in saying let's write another 'Over There.' George M. Cohan didn't set out to write the great song of the last war, I'm sure. He just wrote the song that was on his mind at the time."

Loesser divides war music, informally, into three kinds: songs for soldiers to sing, songs they like to listen to, songs for civilians. Of the first he believes they should sound as if they came from the ranks—"Mademoiselle from Armentieres" was great from the soldier's angle. He doesn't like songs about him, he likes songs by him, songs he might have written. I think 'In My Arms' is a hit because most soldiers, lonely for feminine companionship, share its sentiments."

They like also, he says from observation, old-fashioned songs (Wait 'Til the Sun Shines, Nellie), parodies—and nonsense, not necessarily connected with the war. "I Got Sixpense" is a great soldier song in England. "Waltzing Matilda" swept out of Australia.

Another Hit

In "Thank Your Lucky Stars," Bette Davis sings "They're Either Too Young or Too Old," a number Loesser (he wrote the score with Arthur Schwartz as his last filmusical until after the war) thinks soldiers will like to hear—because it reassures them that their girls back home are missing them.

"And songs of a year ago, when the boys who now are overseas were home, can bring a pleasant nostalgic feeling," he points out. "They serve as a reminder of the boy's date in the corner drugstore when he had a tweed suit on. They're a link with the past, with home. Irving Berlin's 'White Christmas' is sure to be a tremendous hit again this fall."

Washington Success Story

By Jack Stinnett

Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON—The recently announced resignation of Charles E. Wilson, General Electric executive, now temporarily delayed, as deputy director of war production board again has highlighted the fact that businessmen in Washington are flocking back to private industry.

However, the fact that Wilson is going back to General Electric isn't really a part of the picture. Government officials who are worried about the thinning ranks of business executives in the war effort are in complete accord with his move. The simple fact is that General Electric, one of the biggest contractors for vital war production, needs Wilson more than WPB does.

No businessman who has come to Washington has made a bigger success of his job than Wilson. As No. 2 man in WPB, given a free rein by Chairman Donald Nelson, he snipped through red tape and brought order out of chaos in airplane and convoy escort production. The machinery in his department is running so smoothly that it would be hard for anyone to mess it up.

More Complicated

Wilson's case is an exception. The back-to-private-industry movement generally is much more complicated and the reasons for it are several.

In the first place, some business leaders working here are responding to the demands of their boards and stockholders to come home and work out the plans for conversion to peacetime industry. With every success of our armed forces; with every prediction for an early end of the war, this pressure gets greater.

This is only natural. Business men are aware that the industries unprepared for reconversion are likely to leave a trail of bankruptcies. But it is none the less alarming to government officials, for each departing executive takes with him lesser employes who are just as eager to get their feet solidly planted on peacetime ground. That leaves great gaps which at this late date cannot be filled.

A second reason is that unless the administration moves quickly to designate the demobilization and conversion machinery, a great many business executives here will feel that their wartime job is done. There already have been rumors that Nelson has his mind made up to resign unless the President designates WPB as the agency to handle conversion. The appointment of Bernard L. Baruch to report on this has brought up the question of whether he will head the agency which will deal with the reconversion to civilian production.

Running Smoothly

If that should be true, WPB officials and a good many others want to get out now. For the most part production is running nicely. The kinks have been ironed out and those that still exist are not vital. The machinery now, these officials feel, will run virtually under its own power. Why stick on?

There still are a few executives here who resign because they are so tangled in red tape and politics they feel incapable of accomplishing anything, but these cases are becoming increasingly rare.

A fourth reason for the migration lies in the fact that some of the dollar-a-year-men want to collect a portion of their 1943 salaries. This is, after all, the forgiveness year on income taxes —a fact that means little to a man whose only remuneration was a $1 check from Uncle Sam.

Proposal To Force New Whisky Out of Warehouses Would Give Black Marketers a Real Break.

By DAMON RUNYON

IN MY OPINION, the government [illegible] on the liquor situation is [illegible]

It [illegible] some idea of forcing the [illegible] bonded warehouses into the retail [illegible] end the shortage and wipe out [illegible] market" as Secretary of Treasury [illegible] had put it.

To those who may be interested in [illegible] the nation even moderately temperate [illegible] is a menacing project. The effect [illegible] to flood the country with liquor [illegible] time and increase dipsomania, with [illegible] attendant evils. In the end, much of the booze would be hoarded by consumers [illegible] most of it would be in the hands of black marketeers.

The consequence would be a vast [illegible] of the "burnt cork" operations that the government says it wishes to prevent. The black market is big now, and the government does not seem to be able to halt it, though never a more open and obvious enterprise of [illegible] ever flourished. But it is nothing to what it would be under Sen. George's plan of cutting the length of time liquor may be held in bond from eight to four years.

I do not think it is the government's business to promote the sale and use of liquor under any circumstances. There are millions of persons in this country opposed to liquor.

They pay more taxes than liquor makers or liquor drinkers, and I am sure the [illegible] of them will agree with me that the [illegible] the liquor and the higher the price, the less drinking there will be. Release of an estimated 400,000,000 gallons of whisky at a low price is not conducive to temperance.

IT IS the business of the law enforcement departments of the government to apprehend and put in jail violators of the law covering the sale of whisky. When members of congress take notice of the black market it should be with reference to finding out why it is permitted to flourish, not to devising ways and means of increasing it.

You know very well that the whisky black market flourishes because it is encouraged by the patronage of the same citizens who supported the criminal booze peddlers of the prohibition era, and you also know very well that these honest citizens will continue to support the black market if alcoholic inundation of the kind proposed by the congressmen takes place and the blacks get control of the liquor.

The big whisky operators of the United States have been trying to ration their supplies among retail dealers. I do not believe that reputable concerns have had any thought of withholding liquor to create an artificial shortage and increase prices, as charged, because they are under a ceiling. They can get just so much and no more for their whisky.

THEIR chief interest has been in perpetuating brand names. They continue to advertise these brands, though they may have little of them to sell. The big operators have been trying to keep themselves in position to do business after the war.

If whisky is high and hard to get that situation tends to reduce drinking. The government once spent billions trying to produce the same general effect and only increased the demand.

In other words, rationing is doing what prohibition failed to do. The criminals of the prohibition era could import or make their own booze for the black market. They can do neither today. There is no whisky abroad for them to import, and they cannot make it because they are unable to get the necessary ingredients.

But once the government forces out the whisky in bond the criminals will promptly show you how to increase the supply, the prices and the number of rumpots in the U. S. A.

Meat

By Truman Twill

This column is about meat. When a nutrition expert says something about meat that makes sense, he deserves more attention than he [illegible] get in the food departments of newspapers and magazines.

Our expert, a Dr. Leonard A. Maynard of Cornell, told a meeting of nutritionists the other day, that there's more to meat than the [illegible] value. Meat, he explained, is psychological. Amen, doc.

You can feed a man soybeans indefinitely and not damage his health, but it plays hob with his morale. You can fill him up with corn flakes, but if the housewife is smart she will put the corn flakes in a meat loaf.

Meat builds the spirit, says Dr. Maynard. That's all we need to know. It's a man's revolt to the vegetables and roughage and too much emphasis on cereals.

It's the rub in meat rationing. It's behind the smoldering flame of resentment kindled by reports of plenty of beef on the hoof when beef on the table means a sacrifice of butter and vice versa.

Man's pride as a family provider is measured by the bacon that goes with the eggs, the steak that goes with the mashed potatoes and the [illegible] that goes with the sandwich.

The instinct to provide meat makes [illegible] miles through the fields with a shotgun to knock over a couple of rabbits. It is the [illegible] makes him stand in a swamp to [illegible]

The quest for meat sends him [illegible] trips to far-off places and is back of [illegible] boasting about the size of the fish he [illegible]

A man's whole system of personal security can be thrown out of balance by fear of being surrounded by vegetables and foliage when he sits down to eat. It explains why he is [illegible] of salads and resists spinach.

The same thing that makes a woman confident if she has a snug house with rugs on the floor makes a man feel safe when he sees a steak on the table. All of which should be [illegible] to everybody, but isn't.

There's nothing that can be done [illegible] but when this war is over the sure way [illegible] in the golden age will be a double steak smothered in mushrooms.

So They Say—

We were striving (at Moscow) for [illegible] purpose only, to try to bring the war [illegible] at the earliest possible moment and [illegible] full cooperation with each other so [illegible] the peoples of the world might live in peace.—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

One of the morals we must surely [illegible] these days is that we live in one of [illegible] formative times of human history [illegible] age of independence is yielding [illegible] conception of interdependence.—[illegible] bassador Lord Halifax.

In no essential has the American [illegible] failed to keep faith with the [illegible] military secrecy—and there is [illegible] vigilance in preserving the essentials of a free press.—John H. Sorrells, [illegible] Council of Public Affairs [illegible] Scripps-Howard executive editor.

COURT TAKES ACTION IN FOOTBALL SUIT

Youth Told To Present ... of Allegations.

Special to The Star

... O., Nov. 29—Com- ... Judge C. U. Ahl today ... W. Stoner, Galion senior, to present ... denied scholarships after he was barred ... high school football team by Coach James L. Lymper.

Stoner sued the coach six weeks ago asking reinstatement to the team and, with his father, asked $25,000 damages on grounds they had been slandered by Lymper.

The youth asserted in his petition his banishment from the team caused him to lose certain scholarships, and Judge Ahl upheld a defense motion demanding the youth show what schools denied the scholarships, and when. He was given until Dec. 11 to comply.

Lymper said Stoner was left off the team because he failed to report for practice last spring.

Defense motions to require the plaintiff to secure costs in both actions were overruled by the court as was a motion in toto in the action in which Stoner seeks reinstatement to the football squad. The motion had asked that certain portions of the petition be stricken.

Sustaining motions to strike in the suit seeking $25,000 money damages, those paragraphs were stricken which charge that the defendant, with intent to injure plaintiff's reputation, spoke and published false, malicious and defamatory words," to the effect that the plaintiff was a "trouble maker and no good" and "his athletic career in the Galion High school is finished and we are not going to have a football team made up of social lions," allegedly credited to Coach Lymper.

By sustaining another motion the court asks that the plaintiff state a date when certain other alleged false and malicious statements were made in effect: "Let Bill Stoner do the running; he gets the writeups. You fellows are suckers. You do all the running and work and he gets all the praise."

The plaintiff has until Dec. 11 to file an amended petition.

Nationwide attention has been attracted to the actions which are of especial interest in high school sports circles. The suits were filed in October at the height of the grid season after Stoner had allegedly been restricted from playing with the team on which he was a halfback last year.

48-HOUR WORK WEEK DEFERRED IN AREA

Ordnance Plant Layoffs Result in Action.

An official indication that the labor shortage in the Marion area has been considerably relieved was seen today in the announcement in Columbus Saturday by State War Manpower Commission Director F. L. Keenan, recommending that the Marion area, along with the Youngstown area, be granted a 30-day deferment in complying with the compulsory 48-hour work week which becomes effective Dec. 1 in all WMC districts classified as "stringent labor areas."

Keenan, The Associated Press said, made the recommendation to Robert L. Goodwin, regional WMC director. The deferments were recommended by Keenan because of the closing of Scioto Ordnance plant here and the layoff of steel workers in the Youngstown district.

Keenan said closing of the ordnance plant and layoff of steel workers might result in reclassification of both areas from their present No. 2 rating to No. 3. A No. 2 area is a section in which a labor stringency exists and in which a shortage is likely within six months. A No. 3 area is one in which no labor shortage is in prospect for more than six months.

Areas under the No. 2 classification are not eligible to receive further war contracts, while in a No. 3 area plants are eligible for further contracts.

Local labor observers today said they believed there was no organized effort to remove the No. 2 classification under which the Marion area was placed recently.

However, in Mansfield, which is included in the Marion district, a large group of manufacturers were reported taking steps to protest the WMC order making the 48-hour work week compulsory ... the No. 2 classification.

Mansfield industrialists pointed out that if the No. 2 classification continues in effect the city would quickly be faced with a serious unemployment ...

Why We Advertise Funeral Service

Advice that may be faulty, or a slight acquaintance and, at times, only chance are too often the basis for selection of a funeral director.

These are poor guides when what a family really wants is the most they can get in ability, service and value for the money they can afford.

The management of the Hughes Funeral Home believes people are entitled to more information on this subject. To that end, we invite inquiry, and advance arrangements by any who desire them.

IN EVERY TYPE OF ALLIED FIGHTING PLANE

SUNOCO

IS HELPING TO WIN DECISIVE AIR BATTLES

Plane for plane, Allied aircraft are better-built, better-armed and better-manned than anything the Axis can send against them.

Yes, and they're better-fueled, too! The world's finest aviation gasoline is fighting on our side—and Sunoco is making millions of gallons of it every week to highest U. S. Army specifications.

Both the high quality and huge quantity of our output are due largely to Dynafuel—an exclusive development of Sun Oil Company engineers and chemists.

50% More Powerful Than U. S. Standard 100-Octane Test Fuel

Dynafuel is far more than a gasoline. It's a super aviation fuel concentrate, so loaded with dynamic energy that it actually tests 50% higher in power than U. S. standard 100-octane test fuel! It isn't used undiluted but is blended with gasolines made by other methods, in order to step-up their quality.

The Sunoco Dynafuel Process also increases quantity—because it utilizes even those portions of the crude which formerly went only into low-grade fuels.

For Better Motoring—After the War

Dynafuel is not now available for civilians. Every drop is reserved for military needs. But when peace comes, the advanced Sunoco processes and equipment which are contributing so greatly to the war will bring to motorists a new, more powerful fuel for their automobiles.

Industry's Initiative Serves America Well

Dynafuel was developed by Sunoco without government aid or subsidy. We risked our own capital, our own credit, in order to pay the huge costs of building the plants for its production.

This is another example of how individual initiative is helping to win the greatest war of all time—and will inevitably lead the way to better transportation, better living, in post-war America.

WINS SILVER STAR. The silver star for gallantry in action has been awarded to Michael Chinigo, war correspondent attached to Gen. Clark's Allied Fifth Army in Italy. He landed with the first assault troops in Sicily and carried on his duties although he was wounded and suffered a broken arm as well.

miles northwest of Kiev).

Gen. Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's White Russian armies plunged toward Zhlobin after capturing Buda-Koshelevskaya on the Gomel-Zhlobin-Minsk railroad nearly 30 miles northwest of Gomel, in a singe day's advance of 10 miles from Uvaravichi.

The Red army appeared to be advancing as fast as humanly possible against stubborn German resistance.

In the fiercest engagement in the Zhlobin corridor more than 600 German officers and men were reported wiped out in an encircling movement around two heavily fortified points.

Reds Advance Elsewhere

The Red army also continued to forge ahead in the Berezina river area to the west.

Fighting likewise continued to rage in the Pripet river area where the Russians said they took several places by storm and repulsed enemy counterattacks.

The Russian communique said the Germans hurled two infantry regiments and 50 tanks into eight unsuccessful counterattacks in the Brusilov area to the south.

Berlin Dying As First Great City To Be Wiped Out

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Whether the all-out bombing of Berlin and the land offensives in Russia and Italy presage some great allied drive ... move to try to force capitulation of the Nazis as London and other capitals seem to think, there's small doubt that we are witnessing the death of Berlin—the first city of its size thus to perish.

Destruction of the German capital from the air will be a military and psychological coup unique in war. Smaller cities have been wiped out, but nothing approaching this vast metropolis of four millions.

Today for the first time the Hitlerites admit that British and American bombers may "lay all Berlin waste." George Schroeder, chief correspondent of Europa Press, who writes under Nazi Propaganda Minister Joe Goebbels' direction, minces no words in conceding the grim prospect.

The devil himself, being ready to exact the price for the bill of goods he sold henchman Hitler, must have smiled grimly when he read in the fuehrer's own newspaper, "Voelkischer Beobachter," an item of gloomy finality, advising the people of the stricken city how to write their last wills and testaments.

Remarkable Dispatch

When you stop to think about it, that's one of the most remarkable little news dispatches to come out of the war. It certainly is close to being a gesture of desperation which fits well with the declaration by Britain's two-fisted bomber chief, Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, that the holocaust which is sweeping the German capital is "the last lap of the race."

But we mustn't conclude from all this that the end is at hand. Air Marshal Harris, whom I know from personal acquaintance to be far-sighted and logical, doesn't claim this. He just says it's the last lap, and doesn't predict how long the lap will be. Berlin is to be bombed until it is dead.

Would the death of Berlin mean the end of the war? Not necessarily, but it's difficult to see how the German machine could keep going long with its capital smashed—for Berlin, quite apart from sentiment, is literally the heart of the reich. It not only is one of the greatest industrial areas in the country, but it's the hub of the European railway system. Cripple Berlin and you've thrown a monkey-wrench into Hitler's entire continental set-up.

Blow to Morale

Moreover, the destruction of the capital, with its awful death roll, would be one of the fiercest blows public morale could receive.

Dr. Robert Ley, leader of the Nazi Labor Front, declares: "We shall never surrender. An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. Defiance and revenge." Propaganda Minister Goebbels takes a similar but more fiery line in promising heavy reprisals against Britain.

Likely revenge will be attempted by the Hitlerites, and they may indeed have a new "secret weapon" which they boast. I think we should also be prepared to see the reprisals take some barbaric form. However, the Germans no longer have within their power any reprisal which would win them the war, no matter how devilish the revenge might be.

As a matter of fact, while desire for revenge can be a powerful emotion, the slogan of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" doesn't provide the flaming sword of leadership needed by the Germans or any other civilized peoples. You've got to have more inspiration than just "revenge" to win world wars, and any government which tries to sustain public morale on that will come a cropper.

That's been one of Hitler's greatest weaknesses since the start of this attempt to conquer the world—lack of any high and inspiring purpose. His only justification for his aggression has been that might is right—and he had the might. It takes more than that to sustain a great nation as destruction rushes on it.

D. J. Shelton Funeral Set for Tuesday

manufacturing problems as well as the design and sales work he did in later years.

Partner in Business

After his graduation from Ohio university, Mr. Shelton was in partnership in operation of the Marion Electrical Supply Co. at the southeast corner of Main and Church streets. After a short time in this business, he left the company and took a job as a maintenance worker for the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Shortly afterward he became assistant chief engineer, and later chief engineer. In 1926 he was made a member of the board of directors and in 1928 became vice president in charge of sales and engineering.

His latest promotion, to president and general manager, came Oct. 16, 1941.

Mr. Shelton guided the company through much of its war conversion program. When war came, the company immediately switched over to war work and before long its entire production was devoted to the construction of ship building and cargo loading cranes and other equipment needed by the government in the war. This proved to be one of the most trying periods for the company management, bringing along with other difficulties the peak years of employment and dollar volume of business in the company's history.

Other Pioneering Service

Some of the developments he pioneered, in addition to the use of electricity for power shovels and the construction of shovels of ever-increasing size — including the latest giant machine that scoops up 35 cubic yards of earth at one bite—included development of the rigid crawler in 1922, an important development in the shovel construction field, permitting greater maneuverability of the shovel in the field. About the same time the gasoline-electric drive for power shovels was developed, making the machine more flexible, and Mr. Shelton supervised development of new gasoline-electric features for Marion's shovels. The era of ever-larger shovels began about 1925, and again Mr. Shelton was at the head of the engineering and sales development with the Marion company holding honors for a period of years as the makers of the largest shovels in the world.

In Family of Eleven

Mr. Shelton was the oldest of 11 children born to John E. Shelton and Estella Yearsley Shelton. He was born March 23, 1886 at Broadway in Union county, spent his boyhood there and went through elementary and high schools at Broadway.

On Oct. 6, 1909 he was married at Marysville to Miss Zella Dunham of near Marysville. Surviving with Mrs. Shelton are one son, Hubert, of Caledonia, and the following brothers and sisters: Claude E. Shelton of near Iberia, Mrs. Ethel Welch of Urbana, D. W. Shelton of Farmington, Ill., Mrs. Esther Hershberger of Columbus, Nathan Shelton of the Edison road, John E. Shelton of the Bucyrus road, Mrs. Ferne Sharp of Big Island and Mrs. Edith Potts of Columbus.

He began his career with the Marion Steam Shovel Co. in 1909, the same year he was married. He remained with the company after that time except for a little more than a year, starting late in 1912, when he was engaged in construction work in the west.

His election to the presidency of the company came when J. H. Watters resigned as president to become head of the Union Asbestos & Rubber Co. of Chicago.

Interest Centered In Work

Mr. Shelton had few interests outside his work, and held few memberships in organizations. His principal recreation in recent years was visiting his two farms, both near Caledonia, which he developed, with his son Hubert in active charge in recent years.

He was a director of the Huber Mfg. Co. and of the Marion County Bank.

Mr. Shelton was a member of First Presbyterian church and a former trustee of the church. He was a member of Marion Masonic bodies and of the Marion Rotary club.

He and Mrs. Shelton built their present home southeast of Marion in 1929 and moved there in January of 1930.

Although Mr. Shelton's death came suddenly, members of his family said he had been suffering some illness in recent weeks. He continued to work regularly and had been able to stay on the job until the severe attack Friday night that kept him bedfast until the time of his death.

Fifth Army Patrols

Only patrol activity and heavy artillery exchanges were reported from the Fifth army front where Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's warriors were said to be gathering "valuable information" in forays into enemy territory.

The Northwest African Air Forces also raided Dubrovnik and Zara, Yugoslav ports across the Adriatic, and hit targets north of Rome.

The Eighth army's attack was said by the communique to be making good progress despite strong counterattacks, supported by flamethrowers, thrown in by the Germans.

The Germans also attacked American units west of Venafro but were thrown back and the Americans captured more high ground on the right flank of the Fifth army.

Allied air forces broke up the German air force's attempts to bomb the infantry waves of the Eighth army, and sped night bombers to smash airfields at Ciampino, just south of Rome.

Aided by day-long air assaults, both the forces of Clark's U. S. Fifth Army and Montgomery's British Eighth army reported successful thrusts yesterday.

Fifth army troops pushed forward two miles northwest of Montaquila in central Italy.

Reports of widespread German destruction by fire and demolition in front of the Eighth army were construed as signifying German intention to withdraw.

Work Praised

In presenting the class Mrs. Ogden praised the work of the women, their faithfulness in attending the classes and the sincerity and thoroughness with which they carried out their instructions. "They not only will be a great help to the City hospital," she said, "but will be an asset to the community." The class was started July 7 and classes were held two nights a week. Mrs. Ogden, who received her nurses training at the Lawrence General hospital at Lawrence, Mass., took her Red Cross course at Simmons college in Boston, under the direction of Miss Mary Beard, director of nursing service, American Red Cross.

In addressing the class Dr. Mouser also praised the work of the members as observed in their duties at the City hospital, and cautioned them not to forget that their work will not end with the cessation of the war but must continue indefinitely thereafter, as it will be many months before nurses now in service will again be free to resume civilian duty.

Mrs. Bradbury in adding her words of commendation expressed the hope that the members would consider continuing their study and become professional nurses, adding that there was "professional material" in the group.

Herbert pledged support to Bricker.

"In seeking to succeed him as governor, an ambition which I have cherished for considerable time," Herbert said in a prepared statement, "I earnestly ask that my record, both private and public, be closely scrutinized as my candidacy will be based chiefly upon that record."

He added he was satisfied "my service as legal advisor to all departments of state government, preceded by eight years as an assistant and special counsel in that office, has fitted him to execute the duties of the governorship."

The 49-year-old candidate is serving his third term as attorney general. He was elected president of the National Association of Attorneys General last year.

A native of Cleveland, he left his studies at Western Reserve university law school to enlist in the air corps in the First World war and subsequently was awarded both the American and British distinguished flying crosses. He also received the purple heart after he was wounded and shot down in aerial combat over France.

Herbert is married and has three children, Metta, 20, now in the school of nursing at Ohio State university, Daniel, 19, in the armed forces, and John, 13.

TAXES

should have paid while they were fighting."

Cites Careful Review

Morgenthau said the treasury had "carefully reviewed" the fiscal situation.

"There is nothing in the new budget figures in our opinion to warrant reducing our goal below $10,500,000,000 of additional wartime taxes, said the secretary.

"The budget revisions do not alter the fact that we can pay much higher taxes; they do not in any degree affect our moral obligation to meet now, all of the costs of the war that can be met by current taxation; and they do not affect in significant degree the serious inflationary dangers that face us * * * as long as the war shall last, and in the postwar period.

"It is a great fallacy to suppose that we can fight history's greatest war to save what we hold most dear without financial sacrifice. * * *

The secretary reiterated his warning of an inflationary threat which he said is inherent in the estimated $36,000,000,000 surplus between national income after payment of taxes and the available supply of goods.

Price Climb Avoided

Up to this point, he said, spending has been held down "and we have avoided disastrous price increases. * * * but * * * day after day, the continuous pressure of spending power has been cracking our price controls a little here and a little there and threatens to produce a major break-through."

Terming as "perhaps the most superficially plausible and therefore the most insidious," the argument of economy in governmental spending as a substitute for taxes Morgenthau declared:

"I am in complete and hearty sympathy with any measure that can be adopted to reduce governmental costs. * * * but if we are to fight this war to a speedy conclusion we cannot relax our fighting or our production for war. That means that we cannot significantly relax our spending. I am not in sympathy with any measures or proposals to cut expenditures in any way that will make our total production anything less than an all-out effort."

Treasury Counsel Hits Tax Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Randolph Paul, treasury general counsel, charged today that the house-approved tax bill erects "a mountain of complexity for a molehill of revenue" in order to keep on the federal tax rolls 9,000,000 persons he described as least able to pay and the most expensive to tax.

Appearing before the senate finance committee to amplify Secretary Morgenthau's reiterated demand for $10,500,000,000 in additional revenue, Paul devoted most of his prepared statement to an attack on the house's own formula for integrating the present three per cent victory tax with the regular income levy.

The integration plan is a part of the $2,140,000,000 house revenue measure, which would increase the yield from individual income taxes by $226,000,000 in contrast to the treasury's recommended $6,500,000,000. Of the increase in the house bill $161,000,000 would come from the 9,000,000 taxpayers whom the treasury would like to exempt to simplify returns.

Abdication of Italian King Demanded Today

NAPLES, Nov. 28—(Delayed)—The abdication of King Vittorio Emanuele was demanded publicly for the first time today at a political meeting and Count Carlo Sforza, pre-fascist foreign minister, declared the recent British reverse on the island of Leros resulted from failure of Italian troops to fight under one of the king's generals regarded as a fascist.

The meeting demonstrated vigorously for a republic.

Sforza reiterated the king must go if Italians are to be expected to participate effectively in the war against Germany.

Elvin Beach Wins Center Berth on United Press All-Ohio Grid Team

Fredericktown Star Also on First 11; Fazio, Shaffer and DeVito Mentioned.

By GRANT DILLMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29 — Youth was the only common denominator in the 1943 United Press All-Ohio high school football squad as nine 17-year-olds and two 18-year-olds were selected from practically every section of the state by coaches and writers.

So evenly was the cream of the state's 15,000 scholastic gridders divided that only one school, Massillon, was able to land more than one man on the first and second elevens. The Tigers, state champions, placed two men on each.

Although not unusually heavy—the line averaged 181 pounds and the backfield only 167—the 1943 wartime all-high eleven is a coach's dream, boasting good passing, running, speed, drive, deception and a will to win.

Little Eugene Joseph, Martins Ferry's 60-minute triple threat star, won the tailback spot over such stalwarts as Romeo Pellegreni of Massillon and Don Bania of Cleveland Lincoln despite the fact that he tips the scales at only 140 pounds.

Joseph opened the season with a 75-yard punt return against Yorkville and in only one game failed to turn in at least one 30-yard run, winning the name of "ghost" with his elusive running. That and an educated toe and consistent passing won him the halfback role.

Coupled with Joseph in the backfield were Ollie Cline, Fredericktown's 200-pound smashing fullback, Right Half Paul Jackson of Newark's Central Ohio titlists, and Joe Pujazon, a third stringer last year who led Canton McKinley to eight victories, a tie and a defeat, at quarterback.

Holding down the ends were Lorain's Howard Jesko, who sparkled both offensively and defensively, and Tom Jasinski, rated by Coach Elwood Kammer as number three man in Massillon's title drive. Both are fast, big men, Jesko weighing 185 and Jasinski topping 192.

Paired at tackle were Dick Arrington of Massillon and Joe Westenkirchner of Toledo Waite's city champions.

Arrington capped a successful season in the Canton McKinley game by blocking Pujazon's punt which led to the first score of the game and later intercepting a pass for another score. Westenkirchner, heaviest man on the team, was outstanding in the Cleveland district.

Joe Stary, who played on a Bridgeport eleven which was able to salvage only one game all season, nevertheless won a guard berth because of his knack of "living in his opponent's backfield," while Richard Showalter of Van Wert was selected for his all-around play.

Selection of a center was difficult but Elvin Beach of Marion Harding won the position because of superb defensive play and steady ball handling. Like Arrington, when the going became tough, Beach "also was able to become tough."

Several outstanding backs were well up in the running but failed to win first division berths, because their squads played limited schedules or were less successful, including Dick Flannagan of Sidney, Johnny Tillitski of Canton St. John, Bobby Mills of Athens, and Gene Derricotti, clever Defiance quarterback.

Flannagan, along with Cline, reportedly will be out for football at Ohio State next spring.

Grittiest player probably was Bob Wallace of Massillon who switched from guard to halfback and played his second consecutive season wearing a shoulder brace. The 165-pound senior called plays both on the offensive and defensive and generally is credited with Massillon's fine record.

Landis Has Piece To Say at Winter Baseball Meeting

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 — The winter baseball meetings open a one-week run today and while the minors have more fireworks to set off than the majors, the biggest blockbusters of all probably will be those "the head" drops on the boys behind closed doors.

"The head," naturally, is Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and a couple of things have happened recently that have the man in the broken-down hat steamed up like a locomotive. And as the nine major leagues which survived the war in 1943 gathered in separate sessions today to start the ball rolling, you heard a lot of talk about what the high commissioner might have to say later in the week.

In the last few weeks Landis has run into such of his pet peeves as (1) betting on ball games, which caused him to divorce William Cox from baseball for keeps, and (2) extra-curricular off-season exhibitions by major leaguers, some for three dollars a game.

"The head" no doubt wants to bring all the boys together to get his feelings on these matters off his chest—and while Landis does not have a particularly big chest, he gets a lot off it.

Indications that he'll speak "a piece" came shortly after he hit town over the week-end, for his first semi-official act was to go into a huddle with William G. Bramham, boss of the minor leagues, yesterday.

Upset Day Arrives Late This Season

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—That long delayed wave of upsets that usually marks every college football season struck unexpectedly last week and left in its wake the wreckage of Notre Dame's dreams for a perfect season.

Perhaps even more shocking than last year's 55-12 rout of mighty Boston College by Holy Cross was the sizzling news late Saturday that Great Lakes had completed a 46-yard pass in the last 30 seconds to humble the fighting Irish, 19-14.

The wave of upsets also bowled over unbeaten and untied Randolph Field of Texas; Franklin-Marshall of Lancaster, Pa.; and almost gave underdog Cornell a victory over Pennsylvania. Virtually overlooked was Navy's 13-0 triumph over Army in the game that was expected to be the outstanding one of the week.

Behind 12-7, Notre Dame had taken a 14-12 lead on Creighton Miller's touchdown with only a minute to play, a touchdown that apparently assured the Irish their tenth straight victory and their first unbeaten, untied season since the 1930 Knute Rockne team.

But the sailors put on a regular movie finish after that. The Irish kicked off to the Sailors' 37. Steve Lach completed a pass to the Irish 46. On the next play he faded back while Paul Anderson cut behind the Notre Dame secondary and snared Lach's perfect peg on the seven without a soul near him.

There can be little doubt, however, that the Irish still rank as the No. 1 team in the country on the basis of their victories over Pitt, Georgia Tech, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Navy, Army, Northwestern and the Seahawks.

Navy, aided greatly by Hal Hamberg's coffin corner punting, scored over two second half touchdowns for its fifth straight victory over Army and win the eastern championship. Like the Seahawks, Navy finished its season beaten only by Notre Dame. The Seahawks trounced Minnesota, 32-0, in their last game.

Randolph Field went down before Southwestern Louisiana Institute, 6-0, while Bucknell defeated F. & M., 21-13.

Although defeated, Randolph Field was selected yesterday to oppose Texas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's day. Texas won the Southwest conference title by beating the Texas Aggies on Thanksgiving.

Except for the bowl game and a March Field-Del Monte Pre Flight game on Dec. 11, the season is over. The outstanding teams in their sections included Navy, Dartmouth, Army and Penn in the east; Duke, L.S.U. and Georgia Tech in the South; Texas, Texas Aggies and Tulsa in the southwest; Purdue, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Great Lakes and Iowa Seahawks in the midwest; Oklahoma in the Big Six; Colorado college in the Rocky mountains; and Southern California, Washington, College of Pacific, March Field and Del Monte Pre-Flight on the Pacific coast.

Here's the lineup of the bowl games: U.S.C. and Washington in the Rose Bowl; Georgia Tech and Tulsa in the Sugar Bowl; Louisiana State and Texas Aggies in the Orange Bowl; Texas and Randolph Field in the Cotton Bowl. An opponent is still to be named for New Mexico in the Sun Bowl. In addition the annual east-west game will be played at San Francisco.

Girl Cage Stars To Take Court in Contests Tonight

Spectators at the opening sessions of the two Y.M.C.A. basketball leagues tonight and tomorrow will be seeing some of this section's top-flight girl cagers in action. Universal Cooler's feminine outfit seems to possess about the most illustrious players. Among these are Blanche Sipe, who was a member of Delaware High school and independent teams from 1937 to 1942; Gladys Green, who played with Rawson High in Hancock county several years ago; Martha Weller, a regular on the Company D. state guard team in 1939; Evelyn Curtis, Green Camp High school cager in 1935, and Rayda Roux, who played with LaRue High from 1937 to 1940. The Steam Shovel team also has some former outstanding girl players, including Marylin Hedges, Virginia Mae Epley, Annabelle Pommert and sister Stella Mae Pommert. Mary Louise Slack, captain of the Marion Steam Shovel women's team, played with St. Mary's, O. High school several years ago as a forward.

Jack Robeson, new coach of the Mt. Vernon Yellow Jacket cage team, is not taking any chances with trouble makers this year. Before practices opened, he cut players whom he thought would be constant danger spots if on the team. After hearing of the Bill Stoner episode in Galion, Robeson is enforcing a "big stick" policy in practices.

Marion Mewherter, Y.M.C.A. program director, has received two letters from out-of-town individuals asking if there would be a Golden Gloves tournament in Marion this year. If there is some outside interest in amateur boxing here, maybe the Y's Men's Service club has something in wanting to revive the Golden Gloves event.

From Now On The Pressure Turns On for Passer Baugh

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 — From here on the pressure is on the Washington Redskins and their pass-master, Sammy Baugh.

While the Chicago Bears ended their regular National football league season yesterday by smashing the Chicago Cardinals 35-24 to clinch the western division title, the Redskins lost their first league game, to Phil-Pitt, 27-14. Washington thus must win at least one of its final two games, both with the New York Giants, to capture the eastern crown to gain entrance to the National championship playoff against the Bears in Wrigley Field Dec. 19.

Baugh will have to pass as never before if he wishes to beat Sid Luckman's two all-time aerial marks set yesterday. The Bears' trigger-man completed 10 passes for 241 yards against the Cardinals, running his gain to 2,194, and also hooked up four touchdown tosses, boosting his total to 28.

These accomplishments bettered the two seasonal records posted by Cecil Isbell last year—2,021 yards gained and 24 touchdown passes.

Pitcher Al Smith Voted Most Valuable Indian

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Southpaw Al Smith, erstwhile National league castoff who elbowed 17 victories and lost only seven for the third-place Cleveland Indians last season, has been selected as the Tribe's most valuable player of 1943.

The announcement was made Saturday by the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, which will honor him at a dinner in January. Smith, 35, is the seventh Indian to receive the award, which went previously to Pitchers Johnny Allen, Mel Harder and Bob Feller, shortstop (and now manager) Lou Boudreau, outfielder Jeff Heath and third baseman Ken Keltner. Previous recipients are ineligible to be named a second time.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR SECOND CO. H INSPECTION

Ohio Adjutant General to Hold Review Tuesday Night.

Plans for the command review Tuesday night of Co. H by Brigadier General Donald F. Pancoast of Cleveland, adjutant general of Ohio, were discussed yesterday and further preparations will be made tonight following regular school, Capt. Carl Ebert said today.

Capt. Ebert received a long distance call Saturday morning from Col. Earl W. Brannon of Columbus, regimental commander, who inspected the unit last week, informing him that the local company had received the highest rating in the second regiment and Gen. Pancoast wished to review the company personally on a repeat program.

Col. Brannon will be host at a 5:30 o'clock dinner at Hotel Harding given in Gen. Pancoast's honor. Officers of Co. H and their wives have been invited to attend.

The family party, originally planned for Tuesday night, has been postponed and a reception honoring the adjutant general has been planned. The public is invited and refreshments will be served during the evening. Families of the guardsmen also have been invited to attend. Capt. Ebert said that the Tuesday night inspection will be a pay drill and all members are requested to be present for the second inspection to make the attendance 100 per cent.

MANSFIELD MAN SEES JAP CRUISER BURN

By The Associated Press

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 29 — A Liberator of the U. S. Army Fifth air force spotted a Japanese medium class cruiser Friday night while patrolling the Bismarck sea and left it an exploding sheet of flame.

The heavy bomber, piloted by 1st Lt. Willard Barchoff of Wallingford, Conn., and co-piloted by 2nd. Lt. Jack L. Carnall of Mansfield, O., sighted the ship just before midnight in the Kavieng area off New Ireland.

Bombardier 2nd Lt. Edward Crawford of Clemson, S. C., placed the twisting and turning cruiser in his sights through the thick darkness. The first bomb was a direct hit on the superstructure. A terrific explosion and flash shattered the darkness as the bomb exploded.

Three smaller explosions followed a second bomb which hit the ship's deck.

The bomber made a large circle in preparation for one last run, but the cruiser was a sheet of flames and the crew marked it off as one less cruiser in Japan's navy.

Army Depot Crane Shop Busy

New, Big Repair Center Services Equipment Over Large Area: Can Rebuild Crane or Shovel.

[illegible] the largest structure [illegible] depot [illegible] program was completed [illegible] September, has been completed and [illegible] from all parts of the country [illegible].

[illegible] was cranes and [illegible] workmen employed [illegible] completed depot [illegible].

[illegible] Lt. B. A. Haney, [illegible] of the shop, said [illegible] cranes were [illegible] parts of the nation to the Marion depot for big and [illegible] job. At present, however, [illegible] cranes from within a radius of about 1,000 miles are [illegible] here for repair.

And the Marion depot [illegible] equipped to do a thorough job of partially or completely rebuilding various types of cranes sent here.

Not only is the sprawling rental shop equipped with the finest of precision tools and ideal equipment for the handling of the monstrous cranes, but it is also manned by men backed by years of experience in the manufacture of all types of cranes and shovels. Employed in the shop are men who before becoming civilians of war were employed as craftsmen by crane and shovel manufacturers in Marion and elsewhere. These men, figuratively speaking, have been borrowed by Uncle Sam to do a machine job which is playing a mighty important role in America's war effort.

Some of the units brought here for repair are torn down and completely rebuilt. In some cases only minor repairs are made and then the big units are put back into action against the enemy. In some cases Lt. Haney said it is necessary to fabricate new parts for some of the shovels. In many cases it is difficult or rather impossible, to obtain spare parts and new materials. In such cases tradesmen employed in the repair shop do the seemingly impossible task of making their own parts.

Cranes, after being put in A-1 condition, are sent to all parts of the country and overseas.

At present 75 men are employed on a single shift in this phase of the depot's activity, but Lt. Haney said the force will be expanded and possibly a second shift formed.

In connection with the completion of the repair shop, Col. David L. Neuman, new commanding officer of the depot, announced that plans are being made for construction of a boxing and crating plant on the depot site. Col. Neuman said the building is being considered as a means of expediting the flow of shipments handled by the depot. Present plans call for the construction of a building 260 by 120 feet for this operation.

There is still a serious need for laborers and some skilled tradesmen at the depot, Col. Neuman said. About 100 laborers are needed at present, he said.

Three Galion Cases Before OPA Official

GALION, Nov. 29—Three Galion cases were brought before the district information executive of the Toledo district of the office of price administration and one Galion market had its license to sell meat and processed foods suspended as a result. The other two cases were dismissed.

John O. Mauch, district information executive, announced Friday that the Galion Square Market, 124 South Market street has had its license to sell meat and processed foods suspended. Val Grandstaff, proprietor of the market, said that the OPA had cited him for price ceiling violations and failure to mark prices on meats. He is making an appeal through the Cleveland Regional office to suspend the penalty or at least postpone it until after the holiday season.

The two other cases before the district office were dismissed. These were William Amann, Galion mayor, who is proprietor of the Amann's Drive-In Market, and Otto Pfeifer, president of city council, who is proprietor of Pfeifer's Market. Other local markets were under investigation but the cases were not brought before Commissioner Fred Glover Jr.

TENNIS OVERSEAS

WITH U. S. FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY—It's a far cry from the velvety greensward of the national tennis singles circuit to a dusty tent city in Italy, but Capt. William T. Tilden, III, is enjoying it. In North Africa, Capt. Tilden, of Wayne, Pa., nephew of Big Bill Tilden and commanding officer of a quartermaster service company, met Jean Bonte, the French tennis player. They got up a game, the captain losing. Later, the two met Andre Destremau, first ranking tennis player of France, and other matches followed during lulls from military routine.

NARROW ESCAPE

By The Associated Press

DEER LODGE, MONT.—Strange fish attacked the rubber boat upon which Robert C. Flock and other Navy men were paddling in the South Seas after their plane was forced down. They fought them off with their paddles, Flock said in a letter to his mother, and finally reached an island. Natives told them the fish were barracudas and would have ripped them to pieces if they had succeeded in sinking the boat.

SOME STOCKS RECORD GAINS

Market as a Whole Is Unable To Shake Off Minus Signs.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 — Scattered recoveries appeared in today's stock market but the list as a whole, was unable to shake off minus signs.

Mild support developed here and there on the idea the recent sell-off had pretty well discounted peace-thinking and post-war conversion handicaps. Expectations of imminent important foreign news again kept many potential purchasers in neutral ground.

Slack dealings throughout stopped bullish sentiment. Fractional declines were in the majority near the fourth hour.

Among resistant stocks were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck and Douglas Aircraft. Losers included J. I. Case, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, J. C. Penney, Du Pont and Westinghouse.

If the securities markets follow their traditional formula, it was believed the averages would reach bottom for the final month of the year some time between the end of November and Dec. 20.

Thrifty Photographer Leaves $400,000 Estate

By The United Press

FALLS CITY, NEB. — When Fletcher Hayard Brown left Falls City several decades ago to take part in the Oklahoma land rush, his friends remembered best about him how he used to lecture them on the savings a cautious shopper could make.

The former photographer is dead now, dying recently at 80 in Topeka, Kan., and it can be revealed how well he practiced what he preached.

When he died, Brown left an estate appraised at more than $400,000—most of it in first-grade securities.

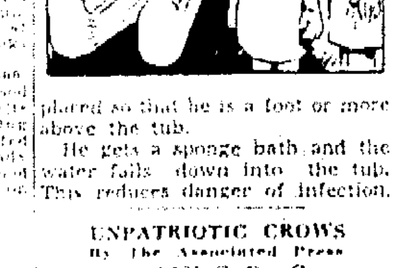

A Tub the Bather Doesn't Get Into

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW ORLEANS — A bathtub shaped like a man, with arms extended and legs spread into a V, has been designed by Dr. Neal Owens, professor of plastic surgery at Tulane University.

It is designed especially for men with extensive burns.

The odd thing about this tub is that the patient never gets in it. A series of posts is attached to the sides, arms, legs and head of the tub and straps fixed between posts, and on them the patient is placed so that he is a foot or more above the tub.

He gets a sponge bath and the water falls down into the tub. This reduces danger of infection.

UNPATRIOTIC CROWS

By The Associated Press

GARRETSON, S. D.—Conservationists who appeal to sportsmen to kill the raucous crow for a variety of reasons now may wrap the flag around their cause. Sexton Charles Stoltenberg, telling dead trees in the cemetery here, found American flags woven into old crows' nests, and theorized they were stolen decorations from soldiers' graves.

BOOGY MAN ROLE

By The Associated Press

SHERIDAN, WYO. — When juvenile mischief took an upswing in Sheridan, Police Chief John Hendrickson placed an advertisement in the Sheridan Press, seeking the cooperation of parents. "Being called upon to put fear into the hearts of five and six-year-olds has the effect of making a boogy man of the police," said Hendrickson, in his ad.

Y.—Electric motor clinics, to which farmers may bring motors for cleaning and adjustments, will be continued in New York State during the fall and winter by extension agricultural engineers, with the cooperation of district engineers. This year they have already shown more than 4,400 farmers how to adjust and repair for longer life this essential electric equipment.

MORE CHEWING TOBACCO

By The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Va.—M. B. Bowles, secretary of a tobacco warehouse company, claims the chewing tobacco business is on the up grade. "A lot of soldiers are learning to chew," he said, "just as they did in the last war, and thousands of defense plant workers are chewing on the job because they can't smoke."

PREFER GIRLS BACK HOME

By The Associated Press

LAWTON, Okla. — Ninety-five per cent of the marriages at Fort Sill replacement center unite the soldier with the girl from back home.

One chaplain who has married 18 couples said in only two cases were the principals strangers before the war. Another performed 17 ceremonies and all the brides and grooms were home town sweethearts.

Calisthenics is a word of Greek origin that means beauty and strength.

JUST BREAKS EVEN

By The Associated Press

LEXINGTON, KY. — Dr. G. Davis Buckner, University of Kentucky chemist, was wondering whether to charge his earnings for jury service to profit or loss. On the day Dr. Buckner received a $12 check for four days' jury service a year ago he broke a tooth and the dentist charged $12 for repairs. More recently the chemist received $9 for three days in a jury and this time he broke his glasses. The repair work cost $9.

JAIL RECOMMENDED

BATON ROUGE, LA. — City jailers thought they were seeing things one morning when a "guest" they had released about 5:30 a. m. walked back in about an hour later with a friend in uniform. "This soldier hasn't any money and no place to sleep," he told officers. "I thought maybe you'd give him my bed for a few hours. It was so comfortable. The surprized jailers did just that—and served the tired soldier coffee when he awoke.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

MY FATHER'S eyes met mine with questioning watchfulness, and from somewhere I pumped up the courage to answer him promptly and with composure.

"Of course, father, I will do whatever you wish," I said with apparent cheerfulness, thankful for Dicky's strengthening grip upon my hand as it lay upon the arm of my chair. I was thankful also for his silent acquiescence in the request, although I knew that strong protest was swaying him, kept down only by my father's guarantee that I would be amply guarded during my interview with Stephen Redfield.

Thanks Them

"I knew you would, Margaret," he said, "and I thank you, as I also thank you, Richard. I know that it is harder for you than it is for her. Those who go into danger have something sustaining which is denied to those who love them and are compelled to be merely onlookers.

"And, now," he said, answering an unspoken question which I knew was in Dicky's mind as well as in my own, "I will tell you what is to be done, and why I wish you to do it."

He paused and fitted his finger-tips together, then resumed his slow, measured speech.

"In the first place," he said, "Stephen Redfield's first concern is with his theatrical career. He is a Thespian first, and an international conspirator second, as I have told you before."

His lips twisted into an ironic smile as he went on.

Invaluable Messenger

"But he has been an invaluable messenger for Milner's purposes, and therefore the first thing Milner did after his first interview with Phil was to dash down to a coin telephone and make a call, getting back to his room before Philip sent for him for the second time.

"We are not able to listen to his conversation, but we are able to check on the call. It was sent to Stephen Redfield, and five minutes later Steve telephoned the hotel, asking for a reservation of a two room and bath suite. He said that he wished to move in almost immediately."

Dicky irrepressibly filled in the next pause.

"Milner lost no time in getting in a listening post here," he said. "That must indicate he didn't get the real reason for his discharge by Veritzen. It hasn't percolated yet."

"Exactly," my father said. "And, as I have no desire to have it percolate for a day or two, in view of this development in Washington, I have changed my original plan to have Phil discharge Steve this afternoon. If I had known of this, I would have kept on with the pretense of Mary's accident.

Too Late Now

But it is too late for that now. Mary is all ready to return to her role tonight, and John Hayes has been told he is to take Steve's part permanently. There is no use upsetting them by any further change. I impressed it on Philip that no one else was to hear a syllable concerning it until this afternoon, when he is calling a special rehearsal. He had planned to dismiss Steve just before the rehearsal. But now, it suits my purpose far better to present Steve with a little holy blackmail."

"Blackmail!" I echoed a bit dazedly although I should have been used to my father's quips.

"I do not know what else you would call it," he said, with another sardonic smile. "Of course, the end certainly justifies the means, for he is a slimy, poisonous serpent. And the secret service has a certain leeway in dealing with criminals. However, if you were a private citizen offering immunity from talebearing for certain actions, it would be blackmail with a capital B. Do you still want to go on with it?"

Promise Stands

"I don't want to," I confessed, "but that makes no difference. I told you I would do whatever you wished, and I have no intention of going back on my promise."

"Good!" my father approved. "Then here is what I wish you to do."

In the short pause which succeeded, I flogged my flagging spirits to obedience again.

"First," he began, "I want you to hold yourself in readiness to go to Redfield's apartment as soon as possible after he checks in. He probably will arrive within the hour, but we must wait until he has notified Veritzen that he is here. He will not dare delay doing that, for he knows what a martinet Phil is.

"Phil will notify me as soon as Steve gets in touch with him, and then I shall stage the holy blackmail scene."

Fighting a Hidden Foe

Again we urge you to spend as much as [illegible] dollars on the Christmas seals of the National Tuberculosis Association to continue a [illegible] on one of mankind's most [illegible] and unrelenting foes. [illegible] in North America. That would mean that 80,000,000 people could afford to buy one dollar's worth of stamps. Think what $80,000,000 would do to help!

The family physician is the head man in this fight just now. And for reasons.

We have had in the past two years a wider survey of the population to detect tuberculosis than ever before. The entire Army and Navy forces and a large proportion of industrial workers have been tested. So an ever increasing number of people are being advised to consult a physician about advice as to treatment. And in most cases that means the family physician.

So whatever other interest he may have, the family physician must be a specialist in tuberculosis.

The detection of tuberculosis (of the lungs) in this mass survey has depended on the use of x-ray of the chest. That is the only safe and sure way of weeding out the active cases and the suspects. In Massachusetts the Army alone has rejected more than 2,000 men because of actual or suspected tuberculosis.

The active case is readily determined by the x-ray and the procedure with them is the simplest of all the decisions in this field. They need sanitarium treatment, and usually surgical collapse of the active lung, bed rest, and segregation from the rest of the patient's family until healing has taken place.

In the suspected case the procedure is more complicated. The diagnosis "suspected" means that the x-ray man has found some hazy shadows that he is not perfectly sure of. The family physician will probably want to order another x-ray study more carefully done than is possible by mass ex-raying, and make an examination of the sputum and by the stethoscope. Also observation of the patient especially the daily temperature over a period of weeks will determine whether there is an actual active disease present or not. The decision of what form of treatment should be instituted will depend on the result of these studies.

Tuberculosis of the lungs tends to increase in prevalence from the age of adolescence on. Or rather it tends to become evident. It hangs on if not detected or treated for many years, but in older individuals the disease is more a source of danger to others than to themselves; they have established an immunity which often carries them to extreme old age.

These new case finding methods have initiated a large scale attack on unsuspected tuberculosis among apparently healthy persons. It is the duty as well as the opportunity of the family physician to carry it through.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Nov. 30

FAIRLY ACTIVE and progressive programs may be pushed on this day, mainly if the attention is concentrated on cashing in on past performances or in solidifying the fortunes for future security. There may be a sudden gain, or a swift group of opportunities may prove lucrative. But conserve funds and energies, safeguard all possessions in business and home interests, at the same time looking out for domestic happiness, love affairs and also professional associations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately lively and productive year, with quick action and clever management of suddenly presented opportunities combining to make a secure and promising future with comfort and growth. There may be an unlooked for chance for gain and expansion even in a speculative proposition. Also there may be a satisfactory return for good or clever work already faithfully performed, possibly a gift or investment. But in all relations be careful to safeguard the interests—in business, possessions, home as well as professional and affectional affiliations. Build for the future.

A child born on this day although clever and enterprising may have some reversals or losses, with close ties in jeopardy. However there may be enduring reward for past performances or fidelity.
